Bringing Irish to your home/Gaeilge i do bhaile féin

I am the founder of a new Irish language streaming global audiovisual app service called ÉIREPORT. Of course, as a founder, I am really excited about this new app service. I believe that, when launched, it will be of great interest and enjoyment to all Irish communities throughout the world and has the potential to be a game changer for all who hold the Irish language dear to their hearts. Making it interesting is where you come in and where you can help by simply filling out the survey included in this article. It will take very little of your time but will help me immensely in creating a service that truly will bring the Irish language to your home.

ÉIREPORT will be enjoyable, engaging, engrossing, and entertaining for all, whether you are beginning to learn the Irish language, are an accomplished speaker or if you would like your children to speak Irish. Even if you are none of these and just enjoy watching Gaelic games this service is still for you for with ÉIREPORT you could enjoy watching Gaelic games with the added bonus of picking up a bit of Irish along the way by listening to commentary through Irish. I am in no doubt that ÉIREPORT will benefit all Irish communities throughout the world and will bring the Irish language to all communities in new, exciting and enjoyable ways. Crucial to this will be your responses to the questionnaire for they will help me bring an Irish language audiovisual service to all, throughout the world, who want to learn, experience and enjoy the richness of the Irish language or who wish that for their children. In anticipation I would like to thank you for helping me to bring Irish home, wherever your home is.

Is bunaitheoir seirbhíse nua aipe as Gaeilge mé ar seirbhís shruthuithe chlosamhairc í a bhfuil ÉIREPORT mar ainm aici. Dár ndóigh, mar bhunaitheoir, tá mé iontach tógtha faoin tseirbhís seo nó creidim, agus an tseirbhís beo, go mbeidh dúil nach beag ag pobal na nGael ar fud na cruinne inti. Ní amháin seo ach thiocthadh dó go mbeadh an mianach inti lámh mhór chuidithe a thabhairt don Ghaeilge lena cur san áit ar mhian linn, a bhfuil an Ghaeilge deas dár gcroíthe, go mbeadh sí. Is sa déanamh suimiúil an áit dtagann tú féin isteach sa scéal agus an áit ar féidir leat bheith ina chuidiú trí líonadh amach an cheistneora a thagann leis an alt seo. Ní ghlacfaidh seo ach fíorbheagán do do chuid ama agus beidh sé ina chuidiú mhór domsa i ndearadh seirbhíse a thabharfaidh go fíorúil agus go fírinne an Ghaeilge isteach chuig do bhaile féin.

Beidh ÉIREPORT siamsúil, spésiúil, sultmhar agus suimiúil d'achan duine óg nó aosta, le Gaeilge nó gan. Níl mé in aon amhras go rachaidh ÉIREPORT chun leasa phobal na nGael ar fud na cruinne ar bhealach nualaíoch, sultmhar agus sásúil. Beidh, áfach, freagraí an cheistneora ríthábhachtach nó cuideoidh siad liom seirbhís chlosamhairc as Gaeilge a chur ar fáil ar fud na cruinne d'achan duine ar suim leo teacht a bheith aige/aici agus ag an chlann ar an Ghaeilge agus sult a bhaint as a saibhreas. I ndúil leis na freagraí, ba mhian liom buíochas ó chroí a ghabháil leat as cuidigh liom an Ghaeilge a thabhairt chuig baile s'agat, cib é áit a bhfuil an baile sin.

Mise, le meas,

Dr. Micheál Ó Duibh

Stiúrthóir/Director ÉIREPORT

FINANCIAL FOCUS

Work to Achieve Your Financial Independence

Article 1 – June 29, 2020

Over the past few months, just about everyone has felt the loss of some type of freedom, whether it's being able to travel, engage in social gatherings or participate in other activities we previously took for granted. Still, as we prepare to observe Independence Day, it's comforting to realize all the freedoms we still have in this country. And taking the right steps can also help you achieve your financial independence.

Here are some moves to consider:

- Build an emergency fund. It's a good idea to create an emergency fund consisting of three to six months' worth of living expenses, with the money held in a liquid, low-risk account. With this fund in place, you can avoid dipping into your long-term investments to pay for short-term, unexpected costs.

- Keep your debts under control. It's not easy to do, but if you can consistently minimize your debt load, you can have more money to invest for the future and move closer toward achieving your financial liberty. One way to keep your debts down is to establish a budget and stick to it, so you can avoid unnecessary spending.

- Contribute as much as possible to your retirement plans. The more money you can save for retirement, the greater your feelings of financial independence. So, it's essential that you contribute as much as you can to your 401(k) or similar employer-sponsored retirement plan. At a minimum, put in enough to earn your employer's match, if one is offered, and every time your salary goes up, boost your annual contributions. Even if you participate in a 401(k), you're probably also still eligible to contribute to an IRA, which can help you build even more funds for retirement. And because you can fund an IRA with virtually any type of investment, you can broaden your portfolio mix.

- Explore long-term care coverage. One day, your financial independence could be threatened by your need for some type of long-term care. It now costs, on average, over $100,000 for a private room in a nursing home and more than $50,000 for the services of a home health aide, according to Genworth, an insurance company. Most of these costs won't be covered by Medicare, either, so, if you want to reduce the risk of seriously depleting all your financial resources – or burdening your adult children with these heavy expenses – you may want to consider some type of long-term care insurance. You could choose a traditional long-term care policy – which can cover a nursing home stay, home health care, or other services – or a hybrid policy, which provides long-term care coverage plus a death benefit.

- Manage withdrawals carefully. Once you retire, your financial freedom will depend a great deal on how skillful you are in managing the money in your retirement accounts. Specifically, you need to be careful about how much you withdraw from these accounts each year. If you set a withdrawal rate that's too high in your early years of retirement, you might eventually risk outliving your resources. So, set a withdrawal rate that reflects your age, assets, retirement lifestyle and other factors. You may want to consult with a financial professional to establish an appropriate rate.

As you can see, working toward your financial independence is a lifelong activity – but it's worth the effort. Neal Eckerlin

At this time of the afternoon

At this time of the afternoon when the shadow of the mulberry darkens the breeze block wall, and little leaves of light appear and disappear on the mulberry shadow in step with the melody of the wind's lullaby to the bough, and the shadow of the triangle palm, shaped like a quiver of arrows across the dark virile blades of the sod, sashays from side to side in rhythm with the mood of the breeze;

when the clay pots of geraniums framing the statue of St. Francis at the base of the mulberry lose a drop or two of their orange hue and remind me of the blood of martyrs;

when the bird in the palm and the squirrel at the feet of St. Francis sing only of the softness of flight, and the zigzagging nature of life...

at this time, when so much work is being done by white flies and black ants, and with so much feeding and nurturing and competition and aging – seen and unseen – and with this heavenly temperature and this heavenly absence,

I think of the forge of Blake, who crafted poems of boy chimney sweeps and jewel-eyed tigers and England as Jerusalem in a glimmering white-heat of protestant fire.

And I wonder on the blacksmith and the mill worker (long gone) and the toil of the hands that shaped this youthful eden before me:
 papal-white roses and lime-colored golden bamboos, lavender, and Japanese red grasses, all perfectly content to flirt with the eye that wonders from the virile blades to the soft seductive periphery.

Now a small brown triangle, thin as rice paper, ascends from the corner edge of the barbeque, swooping and curling like a calligrapher carving a poem from the past;
 and suddenly a small bird flies past my ear and disappears into the neighbors' garden like a dart thrown by Nike before I can tell if it's one of those rust-breasted, incessantly chirpy little fuckers

 —An American Robin, says Roethke, —Like a spark from the forge, says Blake.

Then Gaspar tells us the green blades will brown and the cacti will get too much water, and do whatever cacti do when they get too much water, and that (knowing Blake will value the simile) the night jasmine vines climb and twist and hang from their trellises
 like boys in a playground.

And Blake, smiling, nods to the ivy climbing the palm, only months from reaching the new fronds, and suggests (for Gaspar's benefit) that it's growing like a nappy green 'fro.
 And I say the teak patio furniture, stained dark brown just yesterday, smells of brandy and oranges and licorice and some kind of nut,
 but my description could be way off because only last week I thought the chocolate-banana-bread

Reg was baking in the oven smelled like carrot cake.
 We laugh, and dig the soil our feet are planted in,
 looking for each other's humanity, trying to get to the quality of it.

But those conversations are not real.
 Because at this time of the afternoon, when the light is just so,
 and the air is cool and certain,
 and the numinous night
 is an hour away from waking, I am my truest self...
 listening for the song in the wind, looking not on Whitman's water, sun and hill – it's more personal than that – but breathing in my brother, Steve, and my dad, who left this earth much too early in the day.
